Assessment

The current assessment is that the team is currently somewhere in the "In Use" stage of Way-of-Working. Seeing as the criterion for "Foundation Established" are satisfied by our team selecting tools such as GitHub, web-hooks, and Discord and having a common understanding of a working practice that is supported by said tools. Practices include; the way issues for upcoming projects are created in collaboration between team members; how branches are created relating to specific issues; having pull requests reviewed before merge is completed, and so on. Having implemented this way of working, some parts of the "In Place" state are also fulfilled. The main reason for not yet being fully in the "In Place" state is the criterion of continuous review and feedback on the way of working. Such continuous review would mainly include regularly inspecting the chosen tools and practices in order to find improvements in their usage in the project, as well as establishing procedures for handling feedback regarding the current way of working. These obstacles may be impairing the team's ability to adapt the tools, practices and way of working to the task at hand.
